

Lynda ByronLeadership Development Specialist and Executive Coach

Lynda has led multiple Leadership Development Programmes for many organisations including Google, Bulmers, Heiton Group, Bord Gais, Dairygold, ESBI and many more. As well as these major programmes, she also leads specifically designed interventions for teams and organisations of all sizes to enhance their team-building, customer relationship expertise, presentation and influencing and assertion skills.

She focuses on developing leaders to be the best they can be. She doesn't believe in trying to change people, rather to enhance them by helping them to understand themselves better - to identify and capitalise on their strengths while at the same time recognising and working on their weaker areas.

