

Sholeh JohnstonCreative Strategist and Expert in Professional Development

Sholeh is a creative producer, coach and facilitator working across the creative industries exploring the role of the arts and culture in systemic change through her consultancy, The Field. She has worked with hundreds of people and organisations and different artforms across the UK and internationally on issues such as climate change and environmental sustainability, social justice, intercultural understanding, and wellbeing.

Sholeh is an Associate of Julie's Bicycle, where she was previously Head of Creative Programmes, and a member of the Board of Kinetika People and curious directive. She is a Clore Fellow 2016/17.

